and Illinois. When you consider that in twenty-one states the women now vote for President it totals 213 Presidential electors. There are 192 Presidential electors from the unenfranchised Republican states and 126 Presidential electors from the overwhelm ingly Democratic states. It therefore leaves the balance of power in the enfranchised states in the part of the country from which a Republican President must be elected. It is for this reason that we lay particular stress upon the importance of an intensive organization among both the men and the women within the party."

Real Bluebeard Slew Tots The Bluebeard of Perrault's fairy tale had the habit of killing his wives, but the first and original Bluebeard was a slayer of chi dren. He was Giles de Laval, Marshal de Retz, a famcus soldier, and at the time the richest man in France, and he was executed for his atrocious crimes 478 years ago. His beard was of a tint which won for him the popular name later given to Perrault's fairy tale villain.

The original Bluebeard was noted for his piety and ligentiousness. His chapel was the richest in its furnishings in all France, and he gained from the Pope permission to have a gold cross carried before him on his travels. All of this time his accomblices were luring to his castles little girls of the vicinity, all of whom were put to death by the monster. Just how many he made away with is unknown, but they are said to have numbered several hundred. At length he was arrested, and calmly confessed his crimes and the judges, horrified by the terrible revelations ordered him executed on the spot.—Detroit News.
